
The Unknown Land

Part 1

You are the leader of an exploration team. You have entered a land where no other civilized human has ever set foot. The natives there have been known to be wild and intimidating. The name of this land has been translated to mean, “Land of great learning and honor.”

Your job is to write a detailed journal about what you discovered.

- You must include at least 10 events that you observe about the natives, their diet, their customs, etc.
- Example: Today while I was traveling through this strange land I heard this terrible sound. All of a sudden all of the native children rushed into the main hut where they are given lessons on numbers and tribal history from the native elders.

Be creative.

Part 2

Create a map of this strange land for future explorers and settlers.

The map must be accurate and neatly drawn.

It must include symbols of any major landmarks.
